TASIS PARENT ASSOCIATION
MAD ABOUT SCIENCE GALA DINNER
APRIL 25, 2015
AUCTION & RAFFLE ITEMS

Dear Parents, Alumni and Friends of TASIS, thank you for your generous support in helping us build a better school for our children.

Funds raised will go directly to the Campo Science ongoing campaign for the naming of the TPA Middle School Lab.

If you cannot attend the Gala but would like to participate in the auction, please refer to the Absentee form on page 111.

Auctioneer

Edward Rising was formerly one of the senior auctioneers at Sotheby's and was responsible for selling many millions of pounds-worth of fine art.

He still works within the fine art world but dedicates more and more of his time to raising funds for charities with his unique auctioneering style.

Dear TESIS Friends,

The Gala on April 25th is a special evening prepared just for you! All proceeds will benefit our wonderful Campo Science building. This event not only brings us together to celebrate and have fun but it also underscores our unity and strength as a community. I am very proud to announce that one of the science labs will be named the “TPA Middle School Lab” in honor of the TPA’s exceptional support and contribution to the school.

I invite you to browse through this booklet to see all our sponsors, who have been extremely generous. My heartfelt thanks go to all those who participated in making this gala a real success:

Great thanks to Simona Zampa for creating our mascot, Dr. TESIS, the Volpi family for generously printing the invitations and “Save the Date” cards, our designer Francesca Neri Antonello (FNA) for her talent in decorating the Palestra within a very low budget, Gianfranco D’Alconzo for his help with lighting, Alessandro and Samanta Lo Monaco and Riccardo Braglia for providing real scientific test tubes, the amazing maintenance staff headed by Michele Dinelli for their help in realizing all the ideas we offered them, Samantha Forrest, Cori Shea and Melody Tibbits for participating with their talents and time, Luca Ugolotti for his enthusiastic support and guidance, security and IT departments, Brendan Shea for his help on web-related details, Kim Nelson for finding the right pictures and web postings, Zuleika Tipismana and Yvonne Procyk who have followed us step by step and glued together the whole event with their talented knowledge and support, and the TPA angels for their help whenever needed. Special thanks are due to our Gala Committee who have worked on the project non-stop since September: Gioia Bonomi, Lorenza Fiori, Erika Volpi, Silvia Baroni and Mila Boatti. Thank you ladies! A big thank you also to Sabrina Giuliani and Vittoria Marazzi for their contributions, to Zareh Bezikian who made it possible for us to offer 3-star Michelin catering, to Olga Savrasova for her help, and to Francesca Notarbartolo for helping with raffle ticket sales and continuous support. Thank you Sonny Lim for your generosity lending us the use of the Palestra, Sabrina Putnam for organizing help by the students, and MJ and Guia Berera for your help in promoting the Gala! I would also like to extend our gratitude to those who will be helping during the night of the event: proctors, teachers and A cappella group.....

I wish you all a very pleasant evening in each other’s company and thank you for your participation in this great event supporting TESIS.

Warm regards,

Muriel Aciman Hassan
TPA president 2014-15

A GREAT WINE WITH A GREAT HISTORY

The Cortese grapes used to produce the Gavi del Comune di Gavi DOCG Raggio come only from La Lomellina estate in Gavi, where winemaking boasts a long tradition of excellence.

The estate's mineral-rich terroir coupled with the fresh, brackish winds coming from the sea, give these Cortese grapes a unique, unmistakable flavor, with reminiscences of white flowers, lemons, green apples and honeydew.

From pre-pruning through trimming and pruning, right to grape harvesting, all operations are carefully and exclusively made by hand.

Only the best bunches, coming from the estate's most suitable terroirs, where vines were planted more than 30 years ago, are selected.

And only the healthiest and perfect grapes reach the cellar, where nobility and history meet superior winemaking expertise and sound innovation.

A state-of-the-art cellar, featuring stainless steel, temperature controlled vats, takes care of maceration and fermentation in order to enhance flavours and wine structure.

The result is a perfectly-balanced, distinctly fruity wine, with a bone-dry character, a fresh acidity and an intriguing hint of almonds on the finish.

A complex and unique bouquet, carefully preserved by a special, purpose-made glass top.

A great aperitif wine, the Gavi del Comune di Gavi DOCG Raggio is a perfect partner for all seafood with a natural aptitude for oysters and sushi.

A TRIBUTE TO AN ILLUSTRIOUS ANCESTOR

Situated just in the middle of the homonymous estate, the villa La Lomellina was built around 1620 by the powerful Genoese family Lomellini, from whom it takes its name.

During almost four centuries, only three families have owned the estate.

The last being the one of Count Edilio Raggio, Marquis D' Azeglio, the great grandfather of the current co-owner.

A very successful business man, Count Raggio gave a new impulse to wine production at La Lomellina, that started around 1817, and soon his Gavi wine began to be known and appreciated both in Italy and abroad.

"The photos Debbie Harry and Wendy Whitelaw are part of a series of 40 portraits called Figurines which were taken from 1977 to 1984 on the roof of my loft situated between Broadway and Bleecker Street in New York. Many of the most interesting female characters in this work animated the cultural and nocturnal life of 80s New York, and Blondie's Debbie Harry and Wendy Whitelaw are a perfect example".

Both works were on show in the exhibition: "Edo Bertoglio. Ring flash", curated by Mariuccia Casadio, May - July 2014, Cortesi Gallery, Lugano.

"Figurines (1978-82) is an extraordinary collection of portraits featuring iconic figures from the New York punk/new-wave scene. By observing the lineaments, expressions, and permutations of the female face, Edo Bertoglio has borne witness to his era and told his own story. In his portraits of young urban idols of the late Seventies and early Eighties finds a fascination with identity that has evolved through the stages of a life spent in Paris, London, and New York. It is a full immersion in the magic and mores of the different generations, cultures, and scenes that the Swiss-born photographer has documented in his pictures" (Mariuccia Casadio in "Edo Bertoglio. Ringflash", catalogue of the exhibition, Cortesi Gallery, 2014).

Edo Bertoglio was born in 1951 in Lugano, Switzerland. After earning his degree in film direction and editing from the Conservatoire Libre du Cinéma Français in Paris, he moved first to London, and then in 1976 to New York, where he remained for fourteen years. He worked as a staff photographer for Andy Warhol's Interview, documenting the artistic and musical life of figures from the downtown scene of the Seventies and Eighties such as Jean-Michel Basquiat, Debbie Harry, and John Lurie, and his pictures appeared in the leading fashion, music, art and pop culture magazines. He directed the films Downtown 81 and Face Addict. He moved back to Lugano in 1990, where he continues to work as a photographer and documentary filmmaker.

Gioni David Parra was born in the province of Pisa in 1962. He is a painter, sculptor and scenographer. After years of technical and thematic research and refinement, he has found and established his own very personal pictorial language. This visual language is a complex one, and sometimes many different techniques make up a single work. His approach is often formalist, and the play with reliefs suggests an overlapping between painting and sculpture that constitutes the work.

Parra currently lives and works in Lido di Camaiore, Viareggio, in the province of Lucca. He has worked with many prestigious galleries; several of his works are in Italian museums and foundations, and also in international collections. His work has been shown in galleries across Italy, as well as in Berlin, Bangkok, Moscow, London, Lugano and New York.

Christine StreuliSolo show until May 30, 2015, Lugano.

Christine Streuli is a successful Swiss artist living in Berlin. In 2007 she represented Switzerland at the Venice Biennial and in 2014 she took part in the Sydney Biennial. She had solo exhibitions at Helmhaus Zurich (2009), Kunstverein Oldenburg (2009), Museum Marta Herford in Germany (2010), Kunstmuseum Luzern (2013) and Haus am Waldsee, Berlin (2013).

In the context of contemporary painting she holds a special position: she operates with a multifaceted sign language that draws on the most varied sources from art history to Pop culture. Using symmetry, reflection and repetition, the artist develops patterns and ornamental structures. The multilayered composition of her paintings derives not only from the superimposition of these elements, but also from the deliberate combination of different painterly approaches. Streuli is not a classical artist painting in the traditional way: she rarely paints with the brush. She often uses transfer techniques, as stencils, sprays and decalcomania. Despite this transposition and the meditative distance created, her paintings are very direct and emotional, not least because of the signs and the daring coloration.

Monica De Cardenas founded her gallery in Milano in 1992. In 2007 she opened a second gallery in an old Engadin house in Zuoz / St. Moritz and in 2014 a gallery space in Lugano. She represents international contemporary artists such as Stephan Balkenhol, Alex Katz, Gianluca Di Pasquale, Markus Raetz, Thomas Struth and others. The current exhibition in Lugano is a solo show by Christine Streuli, lasting until May 30th.
